

Steel Barriers & Handrails

Steel Barriers are designed as rack end protection, pedestrian guards and as a defence to stop machinery, including Fork Lift Trucks from damaging racking and going into pedestrian areas such as walkways and picking areas.

1. Guardrail Barrier

Warehouse Guardrail is a 1100 mm high safety barrier and provides a visually imposing guardrail barrier protecting against damage and impact from traffic and identifies a line for pedestrians not to cross.

2. Low Level Barriers (400mm High)

Similar to the twin Rolled Steel Barrier, this single, lighter weight safety barrier, offers a highly visible deterrent as well as protection to pedestrians and structures from forklift trucks and other MHE traffic.

3. Double Rail Traffic Barrier - Medium Level Barrier (750mm High) or High Level Barrier (1100mm Pedestrian)

This warehouse traffic barrier has been selected by Warehouse Safety to protect against and overcome the varying heights of material handling equipment, typically located along walkways the double rail barrier can also be arranged to guard high value structures.

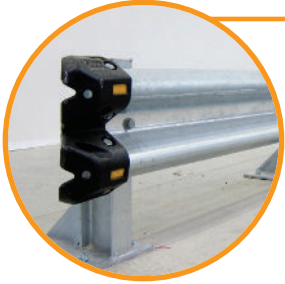

4. Pedestrian Handrail

Pedestrian handrail barriers are designed to segregate pedestrians from other areas of the building by controlling their route. Ideal for areas around machines and other parts of the building with low fork lift truck traffic. This is an ideal segregation product.
